Summary

Hi! I'm Mrunal Samrutwar, a dedicated and ambitious B.Tech student specializing in Computer Science and Engineering at S.B. Jain Institute of Technology, Management and Research. Driven by a passion for technology and innovation, I focus on developing robust software solutions that address real-world challenges and deliver meaningful impact.

With a solid command of programming languages including Java, Python, C, and C++, I possess comprehensive experience in full-stack web development, seamlessly integrating frontend design with backend functionality to build scalable, efficient, and user-centric applications. My technical expertise is enhanced by strong leadership capabilities, effective communication skills, and a collaborative mindset, enabling me to lead teams and thrive in fast-paced, dynamic environments.

I am deeply committed to continuous learning and professional growth, constantly exploring emerging technologies and best practices to stay at the forefront of the field. Whether tackling complex coding problems or orchestrating team projects, I bring a strategic, solution-oriented approach that balances innovation with practicality.

Eager to connect with forward-thinking professionals and contribute to transformative projects, I am motivated to leverage technology to drive progress and create lasting value. Let's connect and build the future together.

Key Achievements

- Enhanced App Performance
Improved application responsiveness by 30% through optimized coding practices and efficient algorithm use.
- Team Project Leadership
Led team of 5 students to develop award-winning software project, winning 1st place in national competition.
- Code Efficiency Boost
Achieved a 20% increase in code efficiency by applying advanced problem-solving techniques in C++.
- Coding Challenge Success
Completed 50+ coding challenges, enhancing proficiency in Java and Python through hands-on problem solving.
